REVISION
Rev. 0, 09.10.2026

ISCOTRANS Middle East Marine Shipment Service LLC recognises that protecting the environment is a duty to the communities where it operates. Transport consumes fuel and generates waste: we commit to reduce both wherever we control the choice, and to manage our activities in line with the principles of ISO 14001:2015.

To this end, Management declares that it will:

- comply with UAE environmental law and with the environmental rules of the ports, terminals and sites where we work;
- apply our clients' environmental requirements and standards, even where they go beyond the law;
- plan routes, consolidation and stowage to avoid empty runs, unnecessary handling and wasted fuel;
- prefer carriers, hauliers and equipment providers with modern, efficient fleets when quality and safety are equal;
- prevent spills and pollution of land and water during loading, lashing and transport, and keep spill response equipment where it is needed;
- reduce waste, separate it by type and dispose of dunnage, packing materials and hazardous substances through licensed operators, reusing or recycling where possible;
- ask staff and subcontractors to report environmental incidents and near misses immediately, and investigate them;
- train and involve employees so that each person reduces environmental impact within their own role;
- set environmental objectives, regularly analyse the results and take corrective action where needed.

Responsibility for the environment concerns the whole organisation, from Management to every employee, each according to their role and competence.
